Search for publishers (name or URL)
Potential predatory scholarly open-access publishers

Instructions: first, find the journal’s publisher - it is usually written at the bottom of journal’s webpage or in the "About" section. Then simply enter the publisher’s name or its URL in the search box above. If the journal does not have a publisher use the Standalone Journals (/standalone-journals.html) list.

Original list

This is an archived version of the Beall’s list – a list of potential predatory publishers created by a librarian Jeffrey Beall (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jeffrey_Beall). We will only update links and add notes to this list. A list of new predatory publishers is available below the original one.

The NYT: Many Academics Are Eager to Publish in Worthless Journals

Nature: Predatory journals recruit fake editor
This is a list of questionable, scholarly open-access publishers. We recommend that scholars read the available reviews, assessments and descriptions provided here, and then decide for themselves whether they want to submit articles, serve as editors or on editorial boards. In a few cases, non-open access publishers whose practices match those of predatory publishers have been added to the list as well. The criteria for determining predatory publishers are here.
We hope that tenure and promotion committees can also decide for themselves how importantly or not to rate articles published in these journals in the context of their own institutional standards and/or geocultural locus. We emphasize that journal publishers and journals change in their business and editorial practices over time. This list is kept up-to-date to the best extent possible but may not reflect sudden, unreported, or unknown enhancements.
